

ABSTRACT

VOLTAGE REFERENCE GENERATOR

- 5 The described embodiments of the invention relate to a voltage reference generator which can be produced using new process technologies and which is still compatible with older designs/products. This is achieved by the introduction of circuitry to generate an offset voltage independently of the main reference voltage generation circuitry.